PA NEW OBSERVES

Mrs. Josephine DeMarco, of 921 South Mill street, sent a peculiar looking worm to the office of The News, Friday afternoon, which it was impossible to identify. It was of the span, or inch-worm variety, about three inches in length and a plum color. It was found on an apple tree, and several leaves were included with the offering. During the night, the worm ate the leaves, and then keeled over and died. Some suggested that it was one of the reasons why one shouldn't sit under an apple tree.

And still it rains, without the least provocation. Three inches of rain has already fallen this month, and folks are beginning to wish for a little dry spell. Last night's contribution to the precipitation total for the month amounted to but .12 of an inch but it kept up the daily habit.

Daily Weather Report

United States weather statistics for the 24-hour period ending at 9 a. m. today are as follows:
Maximum temperature, 87.
Minimum temperature, 69.
Precipitation, 12 inches.
River stage, 4.6 feet.
Statistics for the same date a year ago, follow:
Maximum temperature, 78.
Minimum temperature, 60.
Precipitation, .66 inches.

OKLAHOMA CITY, June 13.—Twenty-eight bodies were removed early today from a mass of tangled wreckage left by two tornadoes which, by coincidence, struck the same section of Oklahoma City in rapid succession last night.

A dozen children were counted among the dead, only four of whom had been definitely identified. The

Reported Plane Landings In Turkey Causes Mystery

(International News Service)
LONDON, June 13.—The reported landing of four large bombing planes in Turkey resulted in considerable confusion today over the nationality of the craft and the purpose of their mission.

Originally the Ankara radio, according to Reuters (British) News Agency, said that four large American bombers landed on Turkish soil after conducting a raid on the Romanian coast. Later the Ankara station corrected itself and said the bombers were British.

The German news agency, DNB, in a dispatch broadcast by the Berlin radio, insisted, however, that the

TELL WHY FLAG SHOULD BE FLOWN

While Sunday, June 14, is the 165th birthday of Old Glory, Monday has been designated as the date for its legal observance in Pennsylvania, and thus the occasion this year will find a dual celebration.

No formal program has been planned locally for its observance this year, such as took place last year, but in most of the churches, special mention will be made of the fact tomorrow, and a general display of the flag will take place at homes and business establishments on the two days.

The event takes on more than ordinary significance locally due to the fact that Fred L. Rentz, President of The News, is national vice

Final $1,000 Being Raised For USO Fund

As the USO nears its goal, with but $936 needed, workers of divisions who have not yet completed their reports are urged to do so immediately by Roger W. Rowland, chairman of the Lawrence county USO drive committee.

Rowland announced that the drive has collected $23,593.66 so far. The goal for the entire county is $24,530.00 but Ellwood City's quota of $7,500 is not to be collected until next fall so that the total for New Castle and the rest of the county is but $24,500. Rowland explained.

Army And Navy Planes Hunt Japs On Aleutian Tip

LANDINGS MADE ON SMALL SCALE

Victories In Pacific May Shift Control Of Vast Area To United Nations

(BULLETIN)

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, June 13.—Army and Navy planes sought contact with Japanese invaders on the western tip of the Aleutian Archipelago today as naval observers asserted that the United States may be definitely on the road to regaining mastery of the vast Pacific as a result of the smashing victories in the Coral Sea and Midway Island battles.

Officials unanimously minimized the Japanese occupation of Attu Island in the Aleutians, but nevertheless the Navy stated that "operations are continuing" against the enemy insofar as weather conditions will permit.

News of Landing
News that Nipponese forces had landed for the first time on American soil in the western hemisphere came only a few hours after the Navy had announced details of an important victory over Japan in the southwest Pacific that resulted in

Axis Advance In Libya Checked

Fierce Counter-Attacks Are Launched By British Forces

(International News Service)
CAIRO, June 13.—Fierce British counter-attacks, strongly supported by bombers and fighter planes, have checked the Axis advance eastward in the Libyan desert, it was reported today.

Nazi Field Marshal Erwin Rommel divided his forces, said to number 110,000, into three columns and yesterday struck east on a front between Bir Hacheim and Bir El Marmat, a water hole 15 miles north of Bir Hacheim and 30 miles south of Tobruk.

One column attempted to turn northward from Bir El Marmat in the direction of Knightsbridge and a furious battle developed between tank battalions.

Dispatches from the battle front said Rommel apparently was trying to hold the main British forces in the Knightsbridge area and then detach another force for an assault on Tobruk.

After a night of heavy fighting the Axis assault appeared to have spent itself and the British forces counter-attacked.

Scrap Rubber Drive Starts On Monday

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, June 13.—Spurred by a direct appeal from President Roosevelt, 35,000,000 American householders today geared themselves for a "scavenger hunt"—turning the familiar neighborhood pastime into the deadly serious game of collecting scrap rubber for United States planes to bomb Tokyo and Berlin.

Officially, the whirlwind drive gets under way at 12:01 A. M. Monday and terminates at midnight, June 30.

From the Atlantic seaboard to the Pacific coast, 400,000 filling stations were set to serve as "collection depots"; 11,000 local salvage committees were primed for action; governors and mayors issued last-minute appeals and the citizenry rooted through cellars and attics for everything from tires and tubes to rubber gloves and raincoats.

In two weeks, the nation's war planners hope to see upwards of 700,000 tons of precious rubber coming forth—valued far beyond the $14,000,000 which such an outpouring would cost if Uncle Sam pays the prescribed penny-a-pound for every bit of the coveted scrap.

Officials anticipate, however, that patriotic citizens will donate thousands of tons of old rubber.

Huge Convoy Lands Fourth American Expeditionary Force Wholly Intact

Thousands Of Troops In Latest Contingent To Reach Overseas Base

By ROBERT NIXON
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

SOMEWHERE, in Northern Ireland, June 13.—The fourth American expeditionary force, led by a hard-hitting armored spearhead and including thousands of troops, has arrived safely in Northern Ireland, it was revealed today.

The crossing from the United States, like the three previous expeditions, was accomplished without the loss of a single man.

Included in the huge convoy was an aggregation of armored fighting vehicles and tank-busting artillery on self-propelled mounts. Several of the newest General Lee type tanks were among the armored units.

The combat troops were heavily armed with tommy guns and other automatic weapons.

Not even one man was injured in the dangerous crossing. There was not the slightest interference from German aircraft.

The convoy was guarded by heavy units of the United States Atlantic fleet as it journeyed through the dangerous "torpedo corner."

The United States forces were fully equipped for offensive fighting. There was jubilation that not a single transport or doughboy was lost since the "ferry service" of American expeditionary forces started five months ago.

I don't know where the Navy is, except that it's at sea. I haven't any idea just where all the ships should be. But this I know and know full well, when big black headlines scare about a scrap, the Navy boys I know will be right there. I do not know the Army dope and how the boys should train, it brings me to the same idea and I come back again to this idea, when there's a scrap, with Tokyo raising hob, you'll find the Army and Marines will be right on the job. In other words I have a hunch that when the war is through, we'll find our boys were in their place, the weather, ninety two.

U. S. Planes Start Torpedo Use

Effective Work Done At Midway

Four Army Bombers With Torpedoes Create Havoc With Jap Carriers

BLAST THROUGH HEAVY JAP ATTACK

By FRANK NEILL
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)
PEARL HARBOR, Hawaii, June 13.—United States Army bombers during the fierce air and sea engagement off Midway carried torpedoes into battle for the first time and with those powerfully destructive missiles smashed two Jap aircraft carriers, it was disclosed today.

Four gallant army bomber crews, equipped with one heavy torpedo apiece, flew a charged path through 20 "hellish" miles of searing anti-aircraft fire to unleash a devastating blow on the Japanese invasion fleet.

When their anti-aircraft fire failed to phase the low-flying American army Japanese battleships (fired large salvos into the water in a futile attempt to send up geysers of water in the hope of swamping the planes out of the air.

Lightning Smash
The lightning smash of the U. S. bombers, in the words of one plane captain, was "faster than a strip tease and hotter than the hinges of hell."

The exchange of heat was fairly mutual and one of the American craft returned to Midway with no less than 500 bullet holes.

Probably the most disappointed member of the crews was the navigator who rode through the entire battle behind the vitals of the plane and out of sight of all action.

When the last word picture of the war has been painted the story written by the crews of these four planes at Midway should remain on the top of the portfolio. Their exploits should live forever in the annals of war.

The story of the army bombers was told by Capt. James P. Collins, 25, of Meriden, Miss.; Lieut. Thomas Weems, 25, of Model, Tenn.; and Lieut. James B. Muri, 23, of Miles City, Mont.

The action put these in the role of heroes in helping the Navy and Marine Corps fliers turn into a tremendous sea victory for their country.

the sinking and damaging of more than 37 enemy warships and auxiliary vessels.

A Navy communiqué disclosed the fact that enemy forces have made landings on a small scale on Attu Island, at the extreme tip of the Aleutian Archipelago, and that Japanese ships have been reported in the harbor of Kiska, approximately 600 miles west of Dutch Harbor.

"Japanese operations in the Aleutian area are still in progress, according to the information received," the communiqué said, "although continuing Army and Navy aircraft attacks have forced them to retire from the populated regions of the islands."

Attacks of the Army and Navy forces in the area against these operations are continuing. Weather conditions in these outlying islands precluded air search operations until within the last 24 hours."

The communiqué offered the first definite news about operations in the north Pacific since the bombing of the American naval and air base at Dutch Harbor last week. The attack preceded by about 24 hours the Nipponese assault on Midway, which ended in a rout for the enemy.

president of the American Flag Day Association, an organization pledged to secure recognition of the birthday of the flag as a national holiday.

Urges Observance
What some local leaders think of the observance of the day is contained in the following messages:

"An all-out observance of Flag Day is worth while. The sight of a flag-bedecked city will remind us of what we owe the brave and patriotic men who have built our country, and of the sacrificial devotion expected of every good citizen."

DR. S. E. IRVINE
"While every day should be Flag Day, with our nation at war, display of America's proud banner on Sunday and Monday, the two days on which the birth of Old Glory will be observed this year, should strengthen our patriotism and determination to help our boys in the field, who are fighting another war for the preservation of our great Democracy. It is one way in which we can show these boys that we are back of them one hundred per cent until the victory is won."

CLARENCE S. JARRETT
Commander Perry D. Gaston Post American Legion.

"It is always patriotic to display the American flag. The flag is not valuable in itself, but the liberty and American Way of Life which it represents is invaluable to every American citizen."

"To display our flag on Flag Day is one way of showing patriotism. Every Lawrence County home, rural or urban, should be proud to display the flag in these days of stress. Let us all fall in line for the observance of Flag Day."

HAROLD R. McCULLOCH
"Flag Day is the one day in the year set aside by loyal Americans for the display of our flag. Pennsylvania is the first State in the Union, to set aside one day in the year as Flag Day, the one day when we shall honor Old Glory. Every red blooded American will welcome this occasion — this one day of days when our National Emblem shall fly as a token of our civil and religious freedom. This year above all others we should display our National Colors — our Stars and Stripes in honor of our unequalled freedom and liberties. We call on every loyal American to see to it that his flag is on display between sunrise and sunset, on Monday, June 15."

"On other sectors there were no material changes."

William White Orr

Stricken suddenly Friday evening, William White Orr, aged 69, custodian of Cunningham armory, died Friday evening at about 8 o'clock, shortly after being admitted to the Jameson Memorial hospital. Mr. Orr had been in failing health for some time but was able to be about until his sudden illness.

Mr. Orr had made a number of friends in this city during his long residence here. He was exceptionally well known in athletic circles, having been prominent in local baseball activities.

While Mr. Orr was not an enlisted man in Troop K, 103rd Cavalry, or Battery K, 190th Field Artillery, he was a soldier nevertheless, and a good one. When the Joseph V. Cunningham armory was built several years ago he was made caretaker and its high rating by the state armory board for the condition it was kept in was the result of his pride and work.

Every boy who went out from the armory in the 190th Field Artillery was one of "Bill's Boys" and he followed them in their work with the interest of a parent. He was stricken as he was about his duties in the place he had become a part of.

Mr. Orr was born in Pittsburgh on July 2, 1872, a son of Andrew and Jennie White Orr. Before going to the armory, he was in the hardware business here, and prior to that had been in the grocery business. He was a member of the Second United Presbyterian church.

Surviving are two sons, Harry A. Orr of New Castle, Russell A. Orr of Akron, O.; one granddaughter, Donna Jean Orr of New Castle, and one sister, Mrs. Elinor Shields of New Castle.

Soldiers Aid
Several soldiers from the Will Rogers base were in the vicinity when the tornadoes struck, and they were first to join in giving aid to the injured, estimated at more than 100 persons, and in recovering the bodies of dead.

"I saw the first twister hit, and I could hardly believe my eyes," one of the soldiers said. "There was a bridge in its path that I never thought would move, but it just picked that bridge up gently and laid it on its side."

"The houses that were hit directly were lifted high in the air, and others just crumbled up before our eyes. Then the second twister came along and darned if it didn't hit the same places. The streets were littered and piled high with wreckage."

Eight of the injured were reported in critical condition at hospitals to which they and scores less seriously hurt were taken. All the victims were from the sixteen square block area, in southwestern Oklahoma City, and there were no reports that the tornadoes had struck surrounding communities.

A day of oppressive heat and humidity preceded the tornadoes, and they were accompanied by both hail and tremendous rains. A gas main blew out with a terrific explosion during the confusion, and sewage mains, electric and telephone lines were destroyed.

The tornadoes struck at 9:30 and 9:40 p. m., destroying at least seventy-five residences.

On election day, Gahan, 52, appeared at his polling place and convinced officials it was his brother, not he, who had died.

Gahan cast his ballot and started for his home. A block from the polling place he was struck by an automobile and killed.

OBSERVE FLAG DAY

DECLARING that our country is "fighting shoulder to shoulder with the valiant people of the United Nations, the massed angered forces of common humanity," President Roosevelt, in keeping with time-honored custom, has proclaimed June 14 as our "Flag Day" for 1942.

It has long been a custom in the United States to honor our flag on June 14. This year of all years when the nation is engaged in the greatest war in history and everyone is making some sacrifice, it is fitting that we display our colors on national flag day.

It goes without saying that the flag is the symbol of the nation. But at the same time when we are honoring the flag we are honoring the nation in paying tribute not only to its present achievements but to its glorious history.

Every student of American history knows the story of our flag and how the Committee of Congress, headed by General Washington, called on Betsy Ross, the skillful Philadelphia seamstress, to put it into shape. The American flag is now the oldest symbol of government in constant use in all the world and we can be proud of this because it is the indication of the permanency of our institution. We believe it is not only the finest flag in the world but the most beautiful one. Its waving stripes and its gleaming stars on a field of blue form a design which as an emblem has never been equalled.

Let us by all means in this year of 1942 observe June 14 as flag day and let us rededicate our hearts not only to Old Glory but to the institutions for which it stands. Let us determine that we will keep up the good fight until they have been made safe against all future attacks.

Never in the history of the world has the flag of the United States been so important as it is today. It is important not only to us but to all humanity which still desires to breathe the air of liberty. In this great war we are the great pillar of support to the free nations. It has been our resources which has enabled them to carry on and it will be our full force in the long run which will carry them to victory. By all means let us not forget June 14 in this fateful year of 1942.

FIGHTING THE SUBMARINE

For uninformed laymen the ease with which the Axis has waged submarine warfare off the east coast of North America has raised questions as to why so many United States naval vessels are at vast distances from continental United States while U-boats are ravaging coastwise shipping.

To such critics there is some measure of assurance in the statement issued by Chairman Vinson of the House Naval Affairs Committee that the Navy is already beginning to drive the submarines farther out to sea, and that now, six months after Pearl Harbor, the time element is beginning to work in favor of the United States.

Concurrently with the issuance of Mr. Vinson's statement there has been a let-up in ship sinkings by U-boats. Whether this is a temporary lull in activities by undersea craft, or whether it marks the turning point in this phase of the war, it may be too early to say.

The Vinson statement, purporting to be a summary of information furnished the committee by Vice Admiral Russell Wilson, chief of staff to Admiral Ernest J. King, commander in chief of the United States fleet, appears to be a temperate summation of the problems with which the Navy suddenly found itself confronted, and of the means employed to deal with them.

The most momentous decision that had to be reached, as Chairman Vinson views it, concerns escort. He maintains it was impossible to give adequate escort protection to troop ships and do the same for coastwise vessels. The fact that no American soldier of the tens of thousands dispatched for foreign areas was lost, as contrasted with the sinkings of coastal vessels, including tankers, shows where emphasis was laid by agreement between Admiral King and the Army's chief of staff, Gen. George C. Marshall.

Those who contrast Britain's successful handling of the U-boat problem are invited to remember that the British have been at war almost three years, and also to compare the difference in coast lines, in view of the fact that the British Isles could be "comfortably" accommodated within the Gulf of Mexico.

Mr. Vinson reluctantly admits that in the great Navy building program "the only types in which it is not well ahead of schedule are those most needed for combating submarines." As to this he says:

"Despite all-out effort on the Navy's part, the Diesel engine and small ship capacity of the country could not be expanded sufficiently and in the desired time. Delivery of such craft, however, is under way, and from now on they will be available in increasing numbers."

The real test of Mr. Vinson's concluding words that "the committee has full confidence that we shall defeat the submarine" will be afforded by the time required to resume tanker service and daylight coastwise shipping with impunity.

"THE MOON IS DOWN"

John Steinbeck's classic story of an invaded land will never be read by the people of Germany, which is unfortunate. It is even more regrettable that it cannot be read by the leaders of the temporary new order, who fashion the design for life and death in Europe today.

This story, which tells of Nazi occupation of the homeland of a peaceful people, might prove thought-provoking, even to the extent of raising doubts as to just how all of this conquest will end—whether, after all, the flies may not conquer the flypaper.

If the Nazis were not intellectually starved and stifled, if they had access to enlightenment, if they did not live under masters who burn books and who strive to cast their subjects in a common mold, they would learn a great deal from "The Moon Is Down." And they would be terrified by the knowledge gleaned.

They have elected to learn the hard way, by proceeding upon the theory that men and women with a long tradition of freedom, who love their homes and their normal way of life, will accept slavery without a struggle. The fate of "Hedrich the Hangman" should be accepted by the Nazis as at least one sign to the contrary.

Laval, who started out to amass a gigantic reputation as The Great Collaborator, seems to have subsided more rapidly than he erupted.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

I frequently get distressing letters about children from six to 14 who have been taking money. Almost always there is added an account of great emotional suffering of the parent and of severe but futile punishment and emotional upset of the child.

When one gets the history of these cases one finds that they usually have had early and small beginnings, though an occasional one seems to burst forth suddenly. Concerning the latter type, it is well to inquire into the child's emotional life, whether he feels secure, whether there is a likelihood that he is suffering from jealousy hitherto overlooked, or jealousy that, being recognized, has not been reduced. It may be the influence of a companion who takes things or who has many more luxuries.

Needs Careful Thought
Whatever the cause or the type it is a problem to be faced with careful thought. The child apprehended of theft is likely to be punished severely, to be shamed, and therefore, to be made to feel less secure as a member of his family. For the first or early offenses punishment may be effective by way of impressing on the child the seriousness of the matter, though punishment for theft practically always is undesirable.

One thing is sure, if several instances of punishments have proved ineffectual, the hope of correction is not by more punishment. Shame and tugging at the child's heartstrings virtually always are not only futile, but harmful. We don't make our children good when they are bad by weeping and praying over them, though it might do us and them a lot of good to pray for them in their absence, particularly to pray for wisdom in their guidance.

You and I know very well that after a child has done something wrong, such as taking money, we are likely to be so wrought up about the matter that for hours or days we think of the awful offense every time we look at the child; and he knows it. He looks at us expecting a smile and gets that distressing look, and he gets it from every member of the family.

All the while we are more serious, laugh less, joke less. But this is the very time when he needs most love and feeling of security.

How wonderful we would be if at such times we could wholly forget the matter once it is settled and remember it against him no more.

Rights Must Be Respected
The first step is to make him feel that he is a worthy member of the family. Furthermore, it is desirable to examine yourself to see whether you have exercised care in respecting his property rights. Has the child things and money, however few or small, he can call his own? Are his rights to them respected and protected? Of course, you will not use his things nor let others use them without his permission; you will not go through his pockets; you would not think of opening his mail.

He will have a definite allowance for each week. You will help him save his money wisely, but you will do your utmost to face him with no temptations he is not ready and able to beat.

Solving Parent Problems
Q. How may a parent at home help cultivate good study habits in the child, once home assignments have begun?

A. See to it that he is home each night after school and goes at his studies regularly at a definite time and place, with no one to interrupt or distract him.

A bouncing ball can be made of synthetic rubber in 10 seconds.

A committee of senators saw it done Wednesday.

We saw it done 11 years ago.

Covering a chemists' convention at Yale University for INS in 1931 we saw the exact same demonstration.

And nothing happened:

This is the time to find out why.

The chemists had it—Why didn't we get it?

Why?

What so proudly we hailed at the twilight's last gleaming,

Whose broad stripes and bright stars thro' the perilous fight,

O'er the ramparts we watched were so gallantly streaming?

And the rockets' red glare, the bombs bursting in air,

Gave proof thro' the night that our Flag was still there,

Oh, say does that star-spangled banner yet wave

O'er the land of the free and the home of the brave?

On the shore dimly seen thro' the mist of the deep,

Where the foe's haughty host in dread silence reposes,

What is that which the breeze o'er the towering steep,

As it fitfully blows, half conceals, half discloses?

Now it catches the gleam of the morning's first beam,

In full glory reflected now shines in the stream,

Oh, say does that star-spangled banner yet wave

O'er the land of the free and the home of the brave?

DINING ROOM WALLPAPER
I wish to repaper my dining room. Could you give me some suggestions in choosing wallpaper and tell me if I might put a picture over my sideboard?—Jean.

Answer: A scenic wallpaper is a good choice for a dining room. In this, with lighted candles flanking it, will serve as an attractive centerpiece when your table is set for dinner.

A mirror over your sideboard would be in very good taste should you choose scenic paper.

Question: When a bride marries a minister, how should her invitations and announcements be worded—Mr. or Reverend?—Grace.

Answer: The invitations and announcements should be written according to the usual form with the exception that "Mr." should be omitted in the groom's name and "The Reverend" should be omitted in the bride's name.

Question: Is it proper for the groom, the best man and other members of the wedding party to wear dinner jackets at a wedding at 5 o'clock in the afternoon?—Rosemary.

Answer: Neither dinner jackets nor formal evening clothes should be worn before 6 o'clock in the evening. Your male wedding attendants should wear cutaway coats and striped trousers, if you will dress as a bride. Otherwise, they may wear business clothes.

THE COLORS OF OUR FLAG:

RED is for valor, for fervency and zeal. It is emblematic of the blood of our heroes who served under its banner.

WHITE is for purity and hope, for rectitude and nobleness of purpose, clean thinking and right living.

BLUE is for loyalty. It represents truth and justice, like the blue of the sky, epitomizes a deep reverence to God and country.

The STARS—an ancient symbol of India, Persia and Egypt—represent dominion and sovereignty. The constellation of the 48 stars in the field of blue, one star for each of the sovereign states, are emblematic of our Constitution which gives to each state its individual sovereignty except in rights specifically delegated to the Federal government.

The present flag with 48 stars dates from August 4, 1912, when Arizona and New Mexico were admitted to the Union.

A joint resolution is now before congress that will put the stamp of approval on the Code of Flag as promulgated by the United States Flag Association. This resolution provides that the flag should be displayed on all days when the weather permits, especially on:

New Year's Day; Inauguration Day, January 20; Lincoln's birthday, Feb. 12; Washington's birthday, Feb. 22; Army Day, April 6; Easter Sunday, variable; Mother's Day, second Sunday in May; Memorial Day, last half-mast until noon, May 30; Flag Day, June 14; Independence Day, July 4; Labor Day, first Monday in September; Constitution Day, Sept. 17; Columbus Day, Oct. 12; Navy Day, October 27; Armistice Day, Nov. 11; Thanksgiving Day, last Thursday in November; Christmas Day; the birthdays of states (dates of admission) and on state holidays.

Germany May Not Crack Up From Within
May Be Deserted By His Allied Friends
Believe Some Would Like To Leave Now

By CHARLES P. STEWART

Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, June 13.—Every little while some good authority warns us that we mustn't count on Herr Hitler's regime to crack up internally. It depends on how darned internally they mean.

It may be unlikely that it'll crack up right in Germany proper.

I think most folk would have said the same thing about the Fatherland up until about the time that it cracked up under the Kaiser, but maybe it's more solid now than it was then. I've got my doubts even as to that. I was in Germany until just before the United States went into the last war and I wouldn't have thought it EVER would crack up then. Perhaps Adolf's stronger than Wilhelm was, but I've got my doubts, personally.

However, say it's so—that they'll die fighting for the Fuehrer, where-as they excused themselves from dying, fighting for Bill Hohenzollern.

The thing Adolf obviously has to worry about is the risk that he'll be swamped, not only by the countries he's conquered, but by his allies.

The countries he's conquered speak for themselves.

Scandinavia One Way
The so-called Low Countries, and Balkans and the German-occupied Scandinavians are a anti-Axis as our Scandinavians in Minnesota and Wisconsin. Sweden isn't occupied, but if I'm not a judge of Sweden I'm no judge, and I've been there a couple of times, and in war time I was in their midst, drank German beer, and in Swedish punch so strong that it made me gulp.

The World and the Mud Puddles

JUST REMEMBER
What with rationing and priorities the order of the day, and many customarily retail services sharply restricted until the Axis bites the dust, it's a good time for the shopping public to take inventory and see how much remains to be thankful for.

It's human nature to note the sacrifices and forget that many of the services we take for granted were unknown one or two generations ago. So conscientiously and unselfishly have progressive, large-scale retailers gone about their business, ministering to the public's wants, we have gladly taken the trails it blazed and forgotten the harder roads by which we came.

Remember the time when oranges were a Christmas season novelty to a good part of the nation? Remember when home-made bread had to last a week?

Remember when, lacking scientific refrigeration and an efficient round-the-year mass distributing system, your grocer brought fruits and vegetables not every day of the year but only seasonally? Remember when the stock of canned and packaged goods were a dab on grocers' shelves compared to the infinite array now available? Remember when, before the chain store introduced self-service, you had to stand around waiting to be served, and trespassing in the semi-sacred precincts behind the counter was forbidden? Remember when nearly all buying was bulk buying when butter came out of a crock—after the flies had been swished away—and crackers came out of the barrel—after the cat had been chased out of it? Remember when, in the case of fish peddlers, used to go about the town, tooting a trumpet to announce their presence?

Thanks to American ingenuity and enterprise, we have sold far more to be thankful for in the midst of our priority and rationing restrictions than did the shopping public of a generation or two ago in its painless days.

In the leaner belt-tightening days ahead, here's a thought to remember.

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT

Attacked By His Own Artillery

WASHINGTON, June 13. FOR SO AMIABLE and agreeable a man, Attorney General Biddle seems to have an extraordinary talent for getting into trouble. At present he is just as much a target for the ultra-liberals, with whom heretofore he has been affiliated as for those outside the Administration who distrust the advanced New Dealism and resent his recent exhortation to the New Dealers to continue their political activity despite the war.

INDEED, WHILE he is being shot at from both sides, the hottest fire comes from his former personal intimates and political blood brothers. This, of course, is due to his decision in the Bridges case, in which he not only ordered Mr. Bridges reported because of his Communist link here, but the Government should have no thought in mind save winning it. However, their resentment, though far wider spread, was much less noisy and violent than that evinced by Mr. Biddle's leftist friends when he went anti-Communist in so emphatic a way.

SOME OF THESE became almost hysterical in their rage. A torrent of vituperation was poured upon the unfortunate Mr. Biddle. Among the mildest things they called him was a fool. Bridges was extolled as a patriot, the Communist party was lauded and the Attorney General called upon to retreat and retract or resign. Altogether, quite a storm was kicked up. THE SUMMER
It seems so bad that weather fair Blue skies and dove-colored air. Season of bird and bloom should be suited to war on land and sea.

Bad weather, angry skies and low. Such seas as raging tempests blow. With snow and sleet and hail would seem Fitter for war's appalling scheme. But no! They wait for skies of blue, Gardens to march their armies through.

Smooth seas for ships with heavy guns. Till sea and earth with crimson runs

Surely the summer time was meant For happiness and good intent. And will be in the years to be. When world-wide over men are free.

It's little, but it's significant.

Now Italy? Benito Mussolini apparently is blowing up. He was middling substantial for awhile. I can remember him when he was a good international friend of Congressman Sol Bloom, now chairman of Uncle Sam's committee on international relations.

Benito didn't want to become anti-international.

Writing to Sol Bloom's daughter, "Have I changed, Vera?" he asked, in a letter I know about.

I suppose he hadn't.

Now, how about him?

Before Hitler's Day

At the time he wrote that letter Adolf Hitler hadn't been invented or much more than that.

Sol Bloom, now our house of representatives foreign relations manager, knew him down to the ground, intimately.

I'm darned if I wouldn't like to hear from him on that basis.

Of course it involved Germany, but Germany involved Italy and vice versa.

Why, in connection with the Axis, don't we hear about the whole situation?

Germany and the rest of the Axis powers are mixed.

The Lord knows that Sol's no pro-German.

But I WOULD like to know about relations between Herr Hitler and Signor Mussolini at a time when Benito was proclaiming himself as far from anti-Jew 'h'.

So am I, too. Curiosity is all I'm talking about.

Wonder what enemies think when they hear us brag of little successes while suffering a major defeat.

Lawrence County Farms And Farmers

CLEAN GRAIN BINS TO CONTROL GRAIN WEEVIL

The control of grain infesting insects can only be satisfactory if attention is given to a few basic practices. One of these practices is the thorough cleaning of the granary and storage bins. It is important to get rid of scattered grains and dust in which these insects breed in the period in which the stored grain is not available for use. Unclean granaries and bins are only a seat of reinfestation when stored grain becomes available.

There are several species of small hard-shelled beetles and moths which attract stored grain. The principal damage is done by the larvae of the weevil. In the case of the grain weevil, the adult, called the minute reddish-brown saw-toothed grain beetle may cause damage in both the adult and the larvae stages.

In addition to thoroughly cleaning of the bins and granaries, the tightening of these storage places may also prevent loss due to grain robbing in the cracks. Old bins can be tightened by lining them with building paper and cracks in the wall can be closed by covering them with strips of paper. Where any bins are being built, they should be built with tongue and groove lumber.

While a thorough cleaning is essential and helpful in the control of weevil, it in itself will not completely control an infestation. Fumigation is also essential. Carbon disulphide, a liquid which forms a gas heavier than air, is usually used as the fumigant. Substitute materials are usually effective only to the extent that carbon disulphide is a part of the ingredients used in their manufacture. In fumigating empty storage spaces, five pounds of this material should be used to each 1,000 cubic feet. Carbon disulphide is inflammable and must be kept away from open lights of all kinds. The combination of cleaning and disinfecting will aid very materially in controlling these insects in already infested bins. The thorough cleaning of the bins before new grain is put in will be a great help in keeping weevil from becoming established in the granary.

Feed sacks are often a source of starting infestation. Whenever possible, feed sacks should be kept away from grain storage bins.

EARLY FRUIT THINNING GOOD ORCHARD PRACTICE

In view of the present farm labor situation an early, thorough and effective job of fruit thinning is suggested.

Many orchardists start the work later than necessary and continue it too late in the season. It is neither necessary nor desirable to wait until the so-called "June-drop" is over before starting to thin.

Thinning at any time results in increase in size of fruit and usually a reduction in total yield. However, the earlier the work is done, the greater will be the increase in size and the less will be the reduction in yield. The vitality of the tree is conserved by thinning and this is often shown in increased yields the following year. Here again, the earlier work conserves more vitality and has more influence on the next year's crop.

The time to start thinning is as soon as the fruit is large enough to be readily found or when the larger fruits are about a half-inch in diameter.

Exact spacing is not so important as is the final balance between total leaf surface and total number of fruits. Early peaches usually require an average interval of six to eight inches, while four to six inches may suffice for Elberta or vigorous trees. Eight to 12 inches may be necessary for Yellow Transparent or Duchess apples, while Stayman, Baldwin and McIntosh may require satisfactory size with spacing from four to ten inches.

Individual trees and branches on the same tree will vary widely in their ability to produce good sized fruit. Vigorous branches may give satisfactory size to twice as many fruits as weak branches of the same size.

One of the most common errors is to thin too little, discover the mistake two or three weeks later and then thin again, and find at harvest time that even the second treatment was not severe enough. With a short labor supply this year it is imperative to start the thinning early, finish the work as soon as possible, and make the first treatment the only one by being certain it is effective.

QUALITY HAY DEPENDS ON PROPER HARVESTING

Soil and weather largely determine the size of the hay crop, but the quality of the hay may depend largely on the farmer himself. Less grain and protein supplements are needed when high quality hay is fed, because livestock eat more of it.

Time of cutting is the first consideration. Early cut grass and clover are higher in protein and digestibility. If alfalfa is cut before about one-third in bloom, the stand may be hurt, especially where alfalfa does not do well. The protein content of red clover cut before bloom approaches that of alfalfa, but the yield is reduced too severely. However, any delay after full bloom has little effect on tonnage but severely lowers the protein and palatability. Early cut clover fields always come on and make the best second crop of hay or seed.

Timothy cut soon after heading makes fairly high protein hay of good green color and high palatability. After passing the bloom stage, timothy deteriorates rapidly in value, especially as feed for dairy cows. Improved quality outdoors any reduction in tonnage through cutting timothy early.

Quality in hay often is greatly reduced through over-exposure to the hot sun. Clover and alfalfa left too long in the swath lose a high percentage of leaves and finer parts which are the best of the plant. Partly cured hay exposed in the swath to dew or showers bleaches and loses color, aroma, and feeding value.

After it is about one-third dry, hay will cure just as fast in small windrows where the air can pass through, as it will exposed in the swath. Windrow curing dries the leaves more gradually and reduces shattering. It should be the rule to "rake before night all hay cut before noon." When raked, only a fraction of the drying hay is exposed to damage as compared to lying in the swath.

A side-delivery rake facilitates the making of small, loose windrows. If run in the same direction as the mower, the rake tends to turn the slow-drying butts out and the tender tops inside the windrow. To remove the last of the excess moisture, the windrows may be turned upside-down onto dry ground a half day before hauling the hay from the field.

TIMELY REMINDERS FOR GROWERS OF ORNAMENTALS

A list of timely hints for care of the home grounds and the plants growing there should include:

Clean out grass, weeds, or other growing material which invades walks, or driveways. If the surface of the walks or driveways is watered the previous evening, the operation of pulling the growing plants with roots intact will be made much easier.

Climbing roses can be layered at this time. In some sections pruning of ornamental evergreens still can be accomplished.

Perennials and annuals can be staked. Discarded string or ribbon can be used for tying the plants to the stakes.

Side shoots of roses can be disbudded. Feeding of roses with liquid manure should be done or a mulch of well-rotten manure may be placed around the base of the plants.

Watch plant materials for insect infestation or disease infection. Recommendations for proper control measures can be obtained from the Agricultural Extension Office, No. 206 Post Office Bldg., New Castle. By mid-June chrysanthemums can be pinched back in order to make them become bushy.

Remove suckering growths which appear on the union of stock and on buds or grafts. Geraniums can be set out in the flower border.

Seeds of the following annuals can be planted directly out of doors into the place where they are to remain: snapdragon, gilliflower, larkspur, balsam, candytuft, marigold, stock, and zinnia.

Tender water lilies can be purchased from reliable nurseries and set in pools.

MEND CLOTHES TO LESSEN DEMAND ON NEW GARMENTS

It's patriotic these days to wear patches, and mending is an excellent way to save the family clothing.

By doing more home mending, you will help to lessen the demands on all production machinery. Before holes have a chance to become large and difficult to mend, take that needed stitch. If the hole is in a wool garment, ravel out strands of wool at the seam or hemline and darn the tear. Mending issue does a good mending job on a garment that does not get laundered.

An easy way to darn sweaters is to fill the hole with rows of chain stitch and darn together on the wrong side using wool yarn that matches the sweater. Elbows may be reinforced with leather, wool, or corduroy patches. It is advisable to check garments for split seams. Later on it may not be easy to match the button that is dangling by a thread, so sew it on before it is lost.

MIXED FIBER DISH TOWELS NEED GENTLE LAUNDRING

In buying dish towels of mixed fibers, homemakers will do well to ask how much rayon there is in the mixture. If not laundered too severely, dish towels with less than 45 per cent rayon will last well. Dish towels have to be laundered often, but rayon "can't take it" when it comes to severe laundering. The U. S. Bureau of Home Economics recently tested 32 dish towels by two laundering methods. All the towels were made from a mixture of 45 per cent spun rayon, 38 per cent cotton, and 17 per cent linen. Seven out of the 20 dish towels washed by the severe method were worn out and discarded before the end of the test. All 12 of those washed by the mild process were still in use after 50 washings.

ROADHOUSE BURNS
(International News Service)
UNION TOWNSHIP, N. J., June 13.—The Flagship, a roadhouse on Route 29 in Union Township, was destroyed today by a $100,000 fire. Built 15 years ago in the form of a ship, the roadhouse and night-club was razed by flames which originated in the kitchen and mushroomed through the dining room before they were discovered.

Sarah Bernhardt, the actress, was born a Jewess, but was converted to the Catholic faith.

Keep the Flag Flying!

"We can, we will, we must."—President Roosevelt.

Never before in all our glorious history was our flag in such dire peril as it is this Flag Day, 1942. Nor was there ever a time when the Stars and Stripes flew so proudly over so many battle fronts in all the far corners of the world... more than ever, it is a symbol to millions of people in lands that tremble under the tread of the oppressor's heel that freedom is still worth fighting for... worth dying for... worth paying for.

True, all of us cannot take up arms in defense of the freedom for which "Old Glory" stands, but we can all rally around the Flag and help to buy the guns, tanks, and planes our fighting men must have to win. We can all buy War Bonds and Stamps to the limit of our powers... one dime out of every dollar invested in War Bonds for freedom, for Victory!

Naval Requirements Are Less Stringent

Standards Lowered On Teeth,
Eye, And Weight Requirements Today

For the first time in history, the United States Navy has lowered its physical requirements, Chief D. C. Ritchie, Naval recruiting officer in the Post Office announced today. All men who have been rejected from the Navy for physical reasons, and still wish to serve with the sea-going service branch are urged to re-apply for enlistment, he continued.

The new requirements deal with teeth, eyes, and weight. The applicant must have enough teeth or suitable replacements to bite satisfactorily. Natural teeth must be serviceable and the gums must be free of all diseases.

Eye requirements also have been lowered. A man can pass now with 15/20 vision in both eyes without glasses with no less than 6/20 in the worst eye provided no organic disease is present.

The applicant's weight must be proportionate to the height and build of applicant and the medical examiner shall determine that any disproportion is not evidence of organic disease. As for height, the prospective sailor must be between 62 and 76 inches.

These requirements have been lowered because of the tremendous need for men in the Navy and because it is believed that the Navy by being too strict physically has passed over numerous men who would have made excellent sailors, Chief Ritchie said.

He urged that all men interested in Naval service visit him at his office on the second floor of the Post Office as soon as possible. The office is open from 8 a. m. to 7 p. m. Mondays through Saturdays.

HARRISBURG — A 73-year-old employee who has been on the state payroll for 33 years is the only man on Capitol Hill that knows all the combinations for the safes in Commonwealth offices, in addition to keeping more than 200,000 locks in good condition. Listed as a locksmith, Thomas K. Rife, Harrisburg, figures that he has "made enough keys to fill a box car" since his appointment in 1908. The only safe Rife never touches is the huge vault in the state Treasury department. "It's electrically operated," he explains.

X-Ray Survey Is Completed Here

State Health Department Unit
Takes 260 Chest Pictures
During Week

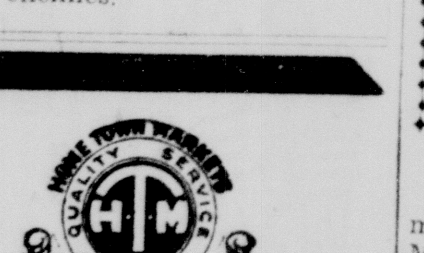

When the state health department X-ray unit that was set up in the Eiks Hall, West Home street, last week, concluded taking pictures here Thursday afternoon, 260 X-ray film had been taken of those who volunteered in a project designed to encourage periodic health examinations and find chest conditions that might require treatment.

Sponsored by the local 3-county district state Department of Health office, this chest survey among colored residents of the city, had the approval of local physicians, and the assistance of Miss Della Glenn, local secretary of the tuberculosis society, who helped make preparations for the survey and secured necessary volunteer clerical aid.

The high-speed X-ray unit, capable of taking approximately 40 pictures per minute, began its tour recently, under the auspices of the Pennsylvania Department of Health, at Buhl Community Center, Farrell. From here it has been moved to the Jones School, in Aliquippa.

for Mr. Biddle is that his assailants are much more articulate than they are numerous, and undoubtedly the Bridges order is as overwhelmingly approved by the people generally as the Browder release was not.

IT IS INTERESTING that these enraged liberals make the same mistake that the CIO leaders made in telegraphing the President to repudiate Mr. Biddle. They assume that Mr. Biddle's decision in the Bridges case was made without consultation with or approval by the President, which, of course, is not the case. The idea that the Attorney General took action involving important Administration policy in this highly controversial case entirely on his own just does not hold water. That would have been unprecedented and improper as well as foolish. No calm person thinks he did anything of the kind. Nevertheless, though the responsibility is certainly Mr. Roosevelt's, Mr. Biddle apparently will have to stand the rap. It is entirely typical of his former friends to ignore the realities of the situation, centering their attack upon the subordinate and ignoring the principal.

AND IT is just as unrealistic for the professional liberals to assail Mr. Biddle for the Bridges decision as it is for the anti-New Dealers to assail Madam Perkins for the Administration attitude on labor. Administration policies on such things are not made by Cabinet officers. They are made by one man, and he is in the White House. In the Bridges case, whether the purpose was to offset the Browder release, which seems likely, and whether the Supreme Court will save this undesirable alien from deportation, are matters of speculation. But one need not speculate upon the responsibility. It is little short of tragic for Mr. Biddle that he should be unable to utilize the White House immunity to keep his own artillery from shooting him full of holes.

THRIFT

An Old Word With New Meanings.

It's a sad truth that many people have always been a little ashamed of being thrifty. There was too much of "keeping up with the Joneses" — too little pride in living within income. • All that is changed now. Good Americans are learning the satisfaction of making a little go a long way — of doing without unnecessary luxuries and services. • These people by the millions are joining the ranks of Penney customers — people who have always bought for cash, who have always carried their purchases home — who have always practiced the thrift to which patriotism now compels us all.

Pittsburgh Jury Finds Boy Guilty

Convicts 14-Year-Old Of Voluntary Manslaughter In Sister Case

(International News Service) PITTSBURGH, June 13.—Found guilty of voluntary manslaughter in the strange "dream" slaying of his nine-year-old sister, 14-year-old Vincent James Rocco, youngest murder defendant in the history of Allegheny county, was being held in the juvenile home today, pending sentencing or a new trial appeal by his attorney.

The jury of seven women and five men which reached its verdict after five hours of deliberation, recommended extreme leniency for the boy, son of an Italian shoemaker in nearby Swissvale. Maximum penalty for voluntary manslaughter is six to 12 years, but the judge can make the sentence as light as he wishes.

Young Rocco based his defense on testimony that he was a victim of a rare form of sleep-walking and that he may have been responsible for his sister's death while in a somnambulistic trance.

Mrs. Carrie Rocco, the boy's mother, cried aloud when the verdict came in, and later, in a hysterical moment as the jury left the near-empty courtroom, she shouted: "You've ruined my boy."

One woman on the jury broke into tears, and several others who were polled individually at the request of Defense Counsel Louis Little. He indicated that he would file an appeal for a new trial, although he said last night that he wasn't sure what his next step would be.

Elders-Croton Play Twin Bill On Sunday

Bessemer Faces Moose In Crucial City Loop Game; Slovaks At West Side

WEST PITTSBURG PRIMED FOR INDIES

Sideline again by another meteorological disturbance which came shortly before game time Friday, City Baseball league participants have their fingers crossed in hopes of playing their weekly Sunday round.

Despite the elements, the Slovaks and Lawrence Indies battled on Cedar street grounds, the Indies emerging on the winning end, 3-2. The remainder of the clubs sat out, watching the rain pitter patter on the windows.

There is a strong possibility that the league lead, which has been held by the Croton A. C. since the opening of first hostilities, may exchange hands.

Play Twin Bill

Eager to take their place with the contenders, the Elders journey to Cascade field for a pair of tiffs with the Croton slugs. The program opener is slated for 1:30 o'clock with the caboose end of the attraction starting about 15 minutes after the first game ends.

Manager O'Leary today disclosed that he will present his most powerful combination in hopes of nabbing two victories which would lift his proteges near the top. Manager "Hop" Colalucia of Croton smiled as he reported that his ace chucker, Andy Sugent, will be on the firing line for one of the contests. While the rival clubs swing at each other, the rejuvenated Moose club plays host to Bessemer on Marshall field, Scott street. A few percentage points behind Croton, the Moose representative is determined not to let this contest make its way into the loss division. Bessemer (6-5) is in fourth place, a game from first.

West Pittsburg's noisy aggregation fires away with the Lawrence Indies on Cedar street grounds. The "Cashouse Gang," winner of seven out of a dozen scraps, is only a half game behind the Moose. The Indies are stymied with the Elders for fifth place honors. The game was carded for West Pittsburg field formerly.

Lots of ack-ack fire is anticipated on Lee avenue grounds where the last-place West Side Tigers poke away at the Slovaks. Charged with five setbacks, the Slovaks are far from out of the title running. A victory Sunday may elevate the hillers near the penthouse. The Tigers, losers of nine games, are desperately endeavoring to move out of the gutter hole.

All games will start promptly at 3 o'clock.

Leo Hill today assigned the following umpires for Sunday:

Bessemer at Moose, General and "Tex" Richards.

L. Indies vs. W. Pittsburg, McIntyre and Irwin.

Elders at Croton, Smolnick and Rotundo.

W. Side vs. Slovaks, Price and Gormel.

LEAGUE SHAVINGS

President Mike Donovan today announced that an important league meeting is carded for Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock in the Y.M.C.A. All managers are urged to be present.

Loop members who haven't turned in their USO ticket money are urged to square accounts within the next two days. Connie Zuk of the Slovaks is handling the financial side of the recent attraction.

The Lawrence Indies will be the busiest town next week. Starting tomorrow with their West Pittsburg encounter, the Indies square off with the Elder A. C. on Marshall field Monday night. Tuesday night, the Zidow-managed club faces the Slovaks on Cedar street grounds. Thursday night's attraction pairs the Indies with Croton on Cascade field and Friday night, the Indies play host to the Elders.

Two games, postponed recently, will be played Monday night. The Lawrence Indies go to Marshall field to battle the Elders and Croton travels to Lee avenue to meet the West Side Tigers. Price and Morgan have been selected to officiate the Indies-Elders clash while General and Irwin were named to-day for the Croton-Tigers fracas.

Two changes developed in the schedule overnight. The West Pittsburg-Lawrence Indies game, formerly billed for West Pittsburg field, will be played on Cedar street grounds and the Slovak-West Side Tiger set, billed for Cedar grounds, will be unfurled on Lee avenue field.

Mangrum-Little Lead In Toledo's Inverness Tourney

(International News Service) TOLEDO, O., June 13.—Lloyd Mangrum, the dapper one, and Lawson Little, the husky one, today stood three points ahead of the field in their quest of the $2,150 top prize in the eighth annual $7,650 Inverness four-ball matches.

In climbing to the top spot, the Mangrum-Little combination yesterday registered a four-up victory over Denny Shute and E. J. (Dutch) Harrison, and a two-up victory over Henry Picard and Sammy Byrd.

All tied up in second place, with scores of plus 4 for three of seven matches, are Herman Keiser and Chandler Harper, and Jimmy Demaret and Ben Hogan, defending champions and leaders at the end of the first round.

Melio Bettina Cops Unpopular Decision

Heavyweight Title Contender Does Everything But Fight Against Altus Allen

(International News Service) CHICAGO, June 13.—Melio Bettina, Beacon, N. Y., heavyweight, today held an unpopular decision over Altus Allen, Chicago negro puncher, following a 10-round bout which was billed to highlight last night's boxing card at the Chicago Stadium.

Bettina put on a show of wrestling, bulling, mauling, hitting in the breaks, holding and hugging which drew the ire of the smattering of spectators.

The fourth and tenth rounds were the only ones in which there was any great evidence of fight shown.

In the fourth Allen did his best to carry the fight to the invader, but was halted when Bettina clinched.

Gigantic Track Meet To Benefit Army Relief Fund

Leading Collegiate Stars Will Vie In New York Championship Meet

EXPECT TO RAISE CLOSE TO $100,000

By JACK MAHON

(International News Service) NEW YORK, June 13.—"Athletics are a very important factor in national defense and there should be much more of them in our program," declared Mayor Fiorella La Guardia at a special meeting called to outline the program of the national track and field championship, scheduled for Randall's Island stadium, June 19 and 20.

Speaking to members of the arrangements committee and the sports writers who will help put over the show, the mayor also revealed that the city would provide bus transportation to the island the days of the championships and that they would be conducted along the same lines as the war-torn, cancelled Olympic games.

La Guardia pointed to Germany and Italy as examples of what nations could do with mass athletic and calisthenic programs to improve their youth.

"We are too prone to underestimate people we don't like," continued His Honor, "and, because we don't like them, we say anything they do is no good. That is not so. Athletics are a very important part of the program of any nation, and I think we should have much more of them in this country."

Orders Pour In Brig. General John R. Delafield, chairman of the championships, announced the meet was already an outstanding success, with some $55,000 in orders and advertising already in the till. There will be 300 odd athletes from all parts of the nation competing, and New York promises to give them a royal welcome and a royal time.

It was learned that John J. Pershing, ex-commander-in-chief of the U. S. army and honorary president of the Army Emergency Relief society, for which the meet will be held, had personally rounded up $40,000 in ads for the souvenir program which will be given spectators free of charge.

There will be military bands, parades and the winners of each event will proceed to a certain platform to receive their awards. Mayor La Guardia will dedicate the games, which will begin on Friday afternoon and be concluded with the finals Saturday.

Practically every outstanding track and field star in the country will compete.

Among them are: Barney Ewell, the sensational colored boy from Penn. State, and his No. 1 threat, Harold Davis, of U. S. C.; Leslie MacMillan, of New York university; Gregory Rice, of the N. Y. A. C.; Cornelius Warmerdam, the all-time pole vault champion; Bill Brown, winner of the javelin throw championship for the past three years; Al Bizio, the discus star and shot-put champion, of Georgetown; Al Diebold, star quarter miler, from Colgate; Charley Beetham and John Boran, middle distance stars; Whitney Hlad, crack hurdler, of Michigan State, and many, many others.

All receipts will go to the Army Emergency Relief society, and experts estimate $100,000 or more may be raised for this very worthy cause.

PULASKIS HALT FANNIN MARCH

K. Pulaskis halted the march of the Fannins in an American Legion Junior League game Friday evening, when Korab hurled a two-hitter to enable his team to win a 6-4 victory. Stan Gonet and Stan Carr hit timely for the Pulaskis.

The score by innings:
Fannins 0 1 0 0 0 4 2 0
K. Pulaski 2 0 1 2 0 6 7 0
Batteries: K. Pulaski, Korab and Bocek; Fannins, Zedick, Jopek, and Jenkins.

SPORTS WORLD RAMBLINGS

Pinches of this and that:

William "Bill" Chip will be a second lieutenant in the United States Marines effective Friday. The local young man will be graduated from the United States Naval academy, Annapolis, June 19. Mr. and Mrs. George Chip, Pat Chip, a sister, and Miss Jean Waddington, the future Mrs. William Chip, will be present for the heart-touching exercises.

The popular localite, who graced one of Phil Bridenbaugh's better Ne-Ca-Hi grid combos, attended Duquesne university before entering Navy in 1939. Chip starred on Middle elevens during the past three seasons, his long suit being blocking. The December 7 sneak attack caused the government to speed up the naval course. As a result, the '43 class is being graduated in '42.

Man Mountain Dean, the famous bearded wrestler, is doing his part for Uncle Sam despite his gigantic frame. In an interesting letter, Capt. Owen D. McFarland, of the south side, discloses that Dean, whose right last name is Leavy, is teaching calisthenics and showing the soldiers how to render the Japs hors de combat with a knee smack into the groin. McFarland is stationed at Camp Young, Indio.

Howdy Odell, Yale's new coach, served as assistant coach at Wisconsin for only three months. He never saw the Badgers play. He didn't miss anything. Edgar Smith, Chicago White Sox "jinx" pitcher, says he isn't down-hearted despite the fact that he has dropped his first 10 straight games. Says "it's got to break my way soon."

Stan Wasik, Westminster gifted basketball center during the past four years, enters the U. S. Army on Monday morning. The towering athlete, one of the nicest young men to ever wear the blue and white of the New Wilmington institution, asks the department to say farewell to the Lawrence county sports circle through this column.

Mention of Wasik reminds me that the Titans' entire 1941-42 cage combination won't be around next fall. The ex-Titans include Wasik, Joe Spak, Charles "Buz" Ridl, Lee Fox and Dale Dummire, who has enlisted in the Navy. Frank Hetra, a reserve, won his sheepskin, too.

Pete Gray, an outfielder with Three Rivers, Quebec, has only one arm. Another one-armed athlete, Mike Martin of Cleveland, recently hurled a no-hitter. This is Jimmy Dykes' ninth season as pilot of the Chicago White Sox. Wonder if Dykes will reach the 10 mark in view of this year's pitiful showing.

Slovaks Sink Into Tie For Fifth Place In City Loop; Final Score, 3-2

Crossing home plate three times in the last stanza, the Lawrence Indies squeezed out a 3-2 City Baseball league triumph over their arch rivals, the Slovaks, Friday night on Cedar street grounds.

The margin proved enough for Michaelojko, who spread seven backs, prudently, Russu. Indies third baseman rang up the only extra base hit, a double. The loss sent the Slovaks into a tie for fifth place with the Elders.

BIG AUTO RACES

YOUNGSTOWN, O., June 13.—Topped by two crack Indianapolis Speedway drivers, auto racing stars from coast to coast will converge upon suburban Canfield Fairgrounds half-mile track tomorrow afternoon for a grueling 100-lap speed program.

CAMDEN, N. J.—New Garden State park track at Camden should be ready for horses July 6. It opens July 18.

PREXY, FRIENDS BUY 500 DUCATS

(International News Service) CHICAGO, June 13.—President Will Harridge of the American League and a small group of close personal friends today purchased a block of 500 tickets to the Army and Navy relief fund double-header baseball show to be presented the evening of July 2 at Comiskey Park.

They will turn the tickets over to soldiers and sailors in the Chicago area.

Promoters of the relief show have started a campaign to buy tickets for every man in uniform in the Chicago area for the twin bill, in which the Cleveland Indians will play the White Sox and the Great Lakes Naval station team will meet Chanute Field.

They will have to take it inland, if at all, or indoors and the latter, of course, would scarcely be considered. There isn't a joint big enough to hold Louis against Billy Conn in their eventual return match. Goodness knows when that will be, although Conn was around the other evening on leave from camp, looking great and showing off the bump on the back of his left hand left by the break when he impolitely put the slug on his father-in-law.

Ewell Pulls Tendon; Out Of NCAA Finals

Track Title Conceded To Southern California; Two Pitt Men Qualify

(International News Service) LINCOLN, Neb., June 13.—With tonight's 21st annual track and field championships already conceded to Southern California, another obstacle was removed from the path of the Trojans when Barney Ewell, Penn State's speed merchant, pulled a tendon last night and was removed from final competition.

Coach Dean Cromwell of Southern California qualified 16 men for the finals, which will be held in the University of Nebraska Memorial stadium. Ohio State has six men qualified and Nebraska five.

Other schools and the number qualified are:
Arizona State Teachers, 4; California, Rice and Missouri, three each; Washington, L. S. U., Michigan Normal, Montana, Alabama Teachers, Colorado, Pittsburgh, Stanford, Illinois, Georgetown, Wisconsin and Drake, two each.

Those with but one performer eligible for the finals are Texas, Miami (Oxford, O.), North Carolina, Oklahoma Aggies, Oregon State, Notre Dame, Indiana, Oklahoma, Minnesota and Iowa.

Ewell had been expected to sweep the dashes for the third straight season, and his injury was a distinct disappointment to the 1,500 fans who sat through the preliminaries.

Louis is in the army. Conn is in the army. Light Heavyweight Champion Gus Lesnevich is in the coast guard. Middleweight Champion Tony Zale is in the navy. Welterweight Champion Freddy Red Cochrane is in the navy. Lightweight Champion Sammy Angott is at his home in Washington, Pa.

Chaiky Wright, the featherweight champ at odd moments is around somewhere, but preparing for a bout in Baltimore with Harry Jeffra.

Wherever Lesnevich may be he is looking ahead to his engagement with Mose Brown at Pittsburgh on June 29, and Angott, out in his Pennsylvania retreat, is getting ready for his July 7 engagement with Bob Montgomery at Philadelphia.

There is a mammoth shoe coming up at Cleveland on June 23 for a "bomber for MacArthur (fund)," which will see some of our leading lights in action through 70 rounds.

Select Al Benton As Man Of Week

Noble, Oklahoma, Right Hander Gets Award For Defeating Yankees, 4 To 1

(International News Service) You would have to search a long way before finding a more worthy subject for our man of the week than Al Benton of Noble, Okla., now doing hurling chores for the Detroit Tigers. Al has been pitching for Detroit since 1938 and has done right well at his chosen profession during that interim of fleeting years. He won 15 games and lost 6 last season. This gave him a pitching average of 714 and an earned-run average of 2.98.

When Benton scored a thrilling 4 to 1 eleven inning victory over the New York Yankees last week the 6 foot, 4 inch right-hander had won three victories against five defeats. Given a little luck, however, the 29-year-old chucker would have been away to a much faster start.

His battery mate, Birdie Tebbetts, calls Benton the best pitcher in the American League. Birdie points out that if Al were playing for the Yankees he would be the talk of the majors.

Benton started his professional baseball career with Lincoln, Neb., back in 1931. He pitched for Philadelphia in '34 and '35, then wandered around in the minors until he went with Detroit in '38. Since then he has been pretty happy. And so have the Motor City fans, for they like the big, good natured, hard working guy.

(International News Service) NEW YORK, June 13.—The colt they said could not be beaten this year and another little fellow who has dedicated himself to exploding the myths of champions are expected to renew their bitter turf feud this afternoon when Whirlaway, the Comet of the Calumet stable, and Market Wise, the brick-layer's horse, come together in the $7,500 Carter handicap at Aqueduct.

FAIR OR FOUL

By LAWTON CARVER
INS Sports Editor

NEW YORK, June 13.—The fight racket in these parts is milder around the edges while everybody waits with cocked ears for the war department's final decision on whether Joe Louis will be permitted to defend his heavyweight championship. All is quiet along Jacobs' Beach, quieter than it has ever been before during Mike Jacobs' promotional regime dating back to 1934. You could drop a $10 bill along the beach without attracting enough attention to create a real good scramble.

You will run into a manager here and there along the beach, dodging the sun and inhaling deeply of the invigorating, health-giving, gas fumes from the few passing autos, but the managers lack their customary enthusiasm and discuss their problems and the Louis situation without working up a sweat. Mostly, they wonder aloud when will be another fight around here so they can replenish their cabbage.

Promoter Jacobs, the squire of the beach, contemplates the sad scene with no visible show of emotion, marking time until he hears definitely about Louis and uncertain where he will go with the show when and if he gets it. The black-out here seems to eliminate a heavyweight title bout in one of our ball parks.

He will have to take it inland, if at all, or indoors and the latter, of course, would scarcely be considered. There isn't a joint big enough to hold Louis against Billy Conn in their eventual return match. Goodness knows when that will be, although Conn was around the other evening on leave from camp, looking great and showing off the bump on the back of his left hand left by the break when he impolitely put the slug on his father-in-law.

Conn is rarin' to take another crack at Louis, and if the war department waits long enough and finally gives Louis the go-ahead, it will be Conn, for he would be the drawing card. This one would be a natural, after the fight Conn made against Louis the last time, with both of them now in the army, and all the other angles.

Conn left the beach finally and went back to camp and immediately gloom settled over the habitues of that sector for he was the first top flight fighter to come along in many days. They are scarce now and you could shadow box from one end of the beach to the other without striking anything except a manager.

RAMBLERS WIN FROM WEST SIDE

North Hill Ramblers won a convincing victory last evening to boost their season's average to the 500 mark, by downing the West Side Pirates 11-2 at the Lee avenue field. Andrews pitched a three-hitter for the winners. Jordan had two hits and Preston kicked in with a timely double.

PIRATE-GIANT GAME CANCELED

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, June 13.—Yankees hard luck hunter of the Chicago Cubs today was boasting his first victory in five starts. He allowed only six hits yesterday as the Cubs beat the Boston Braves, 3 to 2, for the tenth straight defeat suffered by the Stenpelmen.

Bill Nicholson lead the Chicago hit parade that finally brought Olsen victory after four futile starts this season. Nicholson snatched two doubles and a single off Al Javery, the initial two-bagger scoring a pair of runs in the first inning. In the sixth he doubled and came home on Lou Novikoff's single.

Weather conditions which knocked out their complete three-game series with St. Louis, forced the National League-leading Brooklyn Dodgers to remain idle again last night. They were scheduled to play the Cincinnati Reds.

Cards Win, 2-1
Behind the five hit pitching of Morton Cooper, the St. Louis Cardinals scored a 2 to 1 decision over hardluck Tommy Hughes and the Philadelphia Phillies in the opening inning on a walk to Terry Moore. Enos Slaughter's triple and Ken Ode's infield out. It was the seventh victory of the season for Cooper and the seventh straight loss for the Phils.

The New York Giants-Pittsburgh game was called in the fourth inning because of weather.

In the American League, the New York Yankees' scheduled afternoon contest with the St. Louis Browns was postponed. A like fate struck the scheduled night game between Chicago and Washington.

Playing under the arcs, the Philadelphia Athletics turned back the Cleveland Indians, 5 to 4. It was the first time out of eight tries this season that Connie Mack's hired hands had been able to best Lou Boudreau's crew. Dick Fowler was the winning pitcher and Al Milnar the loser.

A pair of walks, two singles, and a double by Dick Siebert gave the A's three runs in the third inning to break a 1-1 deadlock. Then in the fifth, the A's scored another marker when Siebert tripled and rode home on Buddy Blair's one-base knock.

Just a week previous, Fowler lost a heart-breaking 1 to 0, 16-inning game to the Browns, the longest nocturnal game ever played in the major leagues.

Checker Trophy Won By Sammy Sirimaco

West End Playground Boy Takes Honors; Cantini Second

ELLWOOD CITY, June 13.—Sammy Sirimaco of the west end playground, who lives at 1200 Center avenue, is the newly crowned city playground checker champ.

James Cantini of Fuller field took second place and Jake Feldman of Ewing Park third place. A crowd watched the city playground tournament, hard fought from start to finish by entries from five play centers.

Sammy has been interested in checkers at West End for five years. He is 12 years old and will enter the eighth grade at Lincoln school next fall.

Besides playing checkers, Sammy likes to build model airplanes and play baseball. His favorite school subjects are arithmetic, English and literature.

All playground champs were presented a dollar in cash and Sammy received the gold trophy emblematic of the playground championship.

Next week's project is jackstones and all girls may enroll at the local playgrounds.

ELLWOOD CITY, June 13.—Members of the G. A. R. Lodge social circle were pleasantly entertained last evening by Mrs. Charles Zeigler and Mrs. W. C. McKim at the former's home, in Spring avenue.

The nineteen attending enjoyed bingo and 500 with the nice awards going to Mrs. Minnie Simpson and Mrs. A. E. Graf for bingo, and Mrs. Earl Scheidmante and Mrs. Gladys Hill for cards. The hostesses served a refreshing lunch.

Meetings will be discontinued during July and August.

City Playgrounds Now In Operation

City playgrounds are now in operation, attracting large attendance and children are being protected from traffic and other dangers which exist in unguarded sections.

The playground system is under the recreation board and the jurisdiction of Councilman Joe D. Alexander, is the head of the city's park and playgrounds.

Except at a few of the playgrounds the equipment is alike, although some of the playgrounds are more enhanced in appearance than others. This is due to the topography of the district.

Dan Carroll is director. The Sixth ward playground is a beautiful spot in the rear of the Smithfield street fire department and is in charge of Miss Geneva Walker. The children have a shelter house, play badminton, volleyball, horse-shoes have a cement wading pool, several swings, ball field, do handwork and are told children's stories. They are also taught the fundamentals of first aid.

The Liberty street playground is located at the end of the street. The youngsters have a ball field with a backdrop, a shelter house, a band stand, volleyball and badminton courts and boxing gloves. The playground is in charge of James Di Santis. Like the West Side playground the attendance during the current week has been large. It lacks the grass that goes to make some of the other courts more beautiful but is on a nice level plot.

The Booker T. Washington center is operated in the rear of Mahoning avenue. A tennis court is to be revamped. The ball field is there and it might be added, 500 tons of dirt were hauled there to make it a good field. There are horse-shoe and volleyball courts. Baby clinics are held in the splendid brick building.

Gaston park playground is the city's most beautiful playground. It has all kind of courts, baseball fields and is supervised by Miss Susan Flick. In fact, the playground occupies what might be termed the heart of 37 acres of Mother Nature. This is due in a large way to the wonderful development caused by the City Forester Owen Fox who, alone since joining hands with the city, has planted 100,000 trees in the park and developed all sorts of flower bushes, built brick fire places, cottages, a zoo and seven shelter houses.

Dean park which was given to the city by the late J. J. Dean, is the scene of another playground. Reese Flannery is in charge. There are several baseball diamonds on the plot but as yet no other equipment. There is a shelter house. It isn't like the next week and playground activities will be suspended because of a carnival having been given city permission to show there.

Miss Dee Rech is in charge of Rose avenue playground which has equipment for children like that at the West Side playground. It is a well attended playground, likewise Arthur McGill playground where Miss Pauline Butz is in charge. Attendance in this wooded park, another nature beauty spot, has been exceptionally good this season.

Rose bowl located east of Mercer street and between Park and Boyles avenue is in a natural hollow. However, it has not been developed as some of the other playgrounds because of the difficulty of getting equipment into the hollow.

It was pleasing to see the Stars and Stripes flying in each playground this morning. It was further pleasing to see the respect with which the children obeyed the instructors.

The playgrounds open each day, except Saturday and Sunday, at 9 a. m. and close at 4:30 p. m. On Saturdays Director Carroll holds meetings with the various instructors to determine the succeeding week's program.

According to Director Carroll he plans, as soon as possible, to confer with residents living in sections where playgrounds are located and of trying to add interest to what is being done at the various centers.

Fr. Richard Paluse Will Be Ordained

Ordination Services At St. Vincent Archabbey, Latrobe, Pa., Sunday Morning

Rev. Fr. Richard V. DeLillo Paluse, a local boy and son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Paluse of 338 Laurel boulevard, will be ordained into priesthood Sunday morning, June 14, at St. Vincent Archabbey, Latrobe, Pa. Father Paluse, grandson of the late Mr. and Mrs. Joseph DeLillo, is 24 years of age, the youngest in the class of 33 to be ordained this year.

His boyish aim will be a dream come true, after many years of study, when on Sunday morning, at 8 o'clock, mass will be celebrated in the famous St. Vincent Archabbey, and he will be ordained. The Most Rev. Hugh C. Boyle, D. D., bishop of the Pittsburgh diocese, will perform the ordination services.

Fr. Paluse started early training for the Catholic priesthood at St. Vincent parochial school, where he remained for two years, followed by two years of study at Highland avenue school and two additional years at George Washington High School. In 1930 he entered St. Fidelis Seminary at Herman, Pa., where he pursued his academic and classical studies. Dramatics and music were his interests at St. Fidelis, from where he graduated in 1936. Entering St. Vincent Seminary, Fr. Paluse studied philosophy for two years, followed by four years of theology. While at St. Vincent, he was a member of St. Thomas Homiletic society, chairman of the program committee, and member of the Mission Choral society. He was also member of St. Vincent college band and orchestra.

His goal came nearer on June 15, 1941, when Father Paluse received his sub-deaconship at St. Vincent Archabbey and on November 2, 1941 he received his deaconship. This year all the necessary studies and requirements have been completed and Sunday, June 14, Fr. Paluse will enter the priesthood.

Father Paluse will long remember June 21, for on this day he will celebrate his first solemn high mass at St. Vitus church. Services will start at 11 o'clock. Rev. Fr. Nicholas DiMila, pastor of the church, will be archbishop. Rev. Fr. Nicholas Biondi, of St. Mary's of Mercy church, Pittsburgh, will be deacon, and Rev. Fr. Joseph A. Mastrangelo of Our Lady of Mt. Carmel church, Braddock, will be sub-deacon. Master of ceremonies are Rev. Fr. Albert M. Inteso, assistant pastor of St. Vitus, and Rev. Fr. Vincent O'Donnell, chaplain of the New Castle hospital. Assisting in the sanctuary will be Rev. Fr. John Tammara of St. Lucy's church, Campbell, O.

Rev. Fr. Dante DeLillo of Sharpsburg, uncle of the newly ordained priest, will preach the sermon in English at the first mass services, and Father DeMila will preach in Italian. Other visiting priests will assist during services. Selected music will be sung by the St. Vitus choir under the direction of B. J. Biondi.

Father Paluse will remain at St. Vitus church until he receives an official appointment from Bishop Hugh C. Boyle of Pittsburgh.

Maitland Church Meetings Will Hear Glasgow Man

With first-hand information on current happenings in Europe, James Alexander Stewart of Glasgow, Scotland, founder and director of the European Evangelistic Crusade, has arrived in this city to conduct a series of meetings at the Maitland Memorial Primitive Methodist church, corner of South Mill and Maitland streets. Services will be held at 7:30 o'clock each evening, beginning Monday, June 15, and continuing through Friday, June 19.

These meetings are being sponsored by the Union Young People's group of Lawrence county.

Mr. and Mrs. Stewart came to the United States from Europe two years ago this coming August. He arrived in New Castle last Monday and is visiting at the home of Miss Elizabeth Lewis, 405 Waldo street. Mr. Stewart and Miss Lewis met while the latter was attending her uncle's college in Swansea, South Wales. She returned home just five months before the outbreak of the war in 1939 and is now conference evangelist for the Primitive Methodist denomination.

Mrs. Stewart, a Montgomery, Ala., girl, was a Southern Baptist missionary and director of the Girls' Training College in Budapest, Hungary. She will arrive in this city next Monday to take part in the meetings here. Mrs. Stewart will be accompanied by their little daughter, Sheila, almost three years old, who is sometimes called "Blitz" because she was born in Britain at the beginning of the war.

As a missionary in Europe, Mr. Stewart has passed through the larger upheavals and has watched with great concern the growth of Nazism and fifth column activity in Europe. He studied these movements closely in Sudetland, a part of Czechoslovakia, and warned the British leaders of their menace to the peace of all Europe. During the Sudetland crisis in 1938, Mr. Stewart came to America for a short visit and spoke in behalf of the Czechoslovakian government concerning Hitler's true aim. The reason Hitler wanted Sudetland was because that was where Czechoslovakia had military fortifications.

Mr. Stewart has seen Hitler on several occasions. He was in Austria and Czechoslovakia when Hitler went into both of those countries. He watched the burning of the Jewish synagogues in Prague and Brno and saw the Czech people being led to concentration camps.

The Gestapo was seeking Mr. Stewart, but he escaped to Hungary. Later, he got out of Germany only two days before he declared war and was one of the last Britishers to cross through the heart of France, escaping just in time in that country's downfall. British newspapers have called Mr. Stewart the "man one day ahead of Hitler."

Mr. Stewart's younger brother, who is also a missionary, was in Belgrade, Yugoslavia, when the German Luftwaffe rained death on that open city and was captured there. He is now in an internment camp.

Mr. Stewart knows many of the leading statesmen of Europe, both in friendly and enemy countries, and has lectured in behalf of the British and Czechoslovakian governments.

He has done much for the British War Relief Societies and Bundles for Britain. His messages are primarily evangelistic.

Unable to return to Europe now, Mr. Stewart is chiefly interested in the downfall of Hitler so that he may return to his work. In this country, he has been lecturing at universities and clubs on the European situation. He believes that Nazism is out to destroy every vestige of Christianity in Europe. Mr. Stewart, himself, has hundreds of Christian friends in concentration camps in Europe.

Before coming to this country, Mr. Stewart occupied the pulpits of some of the largest churches in Europe and the British Isles, such as the Metropolitan ("Spurgeon's") Tabernacle in London which was bombed and completely destroyed in the "blitz" on that city.

Mr. Stewart expects to tell of some of his most interesting experiences in Europe, where he is widely known, while conducting services in this city.
